

AKVIS AirBrush 9.0: Art of Spray Painting for Your Images

April 25, 2024 – AKVIS is excited to announce an update of AKVIS AirBrush, cross-platform artistic software simulating airbrushing art. Version 9.0 offers the improved conversion algorithm, new blending features, and the Presets interface mode.

AKVIS AirBrush is powerful, one-of-a-kind artistic software that transforms images into masterpieces using the airbrush painting effect. The airbrushing technique is widely used in contemporary art. Artists create unique graphics with a special air brush tool (spray gun).

The program converts images into inspirational drawings, outstanding designs, and illustrations, that catch the eye with unprecedented clarity and level of detail. With the new features, the software allows generating even more impressive stylish colorful art.

Version 9.0 includes some improvements of the photo-to-painting conversion algorithm. Now the program creates higher quality and smoother images. The update allows users to merge the original image and result to achieve stunning colorful effects. Using the new Blend with Original option, it's possible to adjust the strength of mixing. The program includes 26 blending methods providing a variety of results.

The new version offers the Presets interface mode, user-friendly and fun, that displays the airbrush effect presets as thumbnails with the real-time preview, as a gallery of quick results. The new workspace mode makes it easier to manage the presets and choose the best effect for images.
